THE KING OF THE ROAD

mini test

Bentley Bentayga

Price: £160,200

GOOD

■ THE new Bentayga just about lives up to Bentley's boast to be 'the most powerful, luxurious and exclusive sports utility vehicle in the world', though I reckon the rival Range Rover beats it on pure off-road capability.

■ IT'S a ruffly-tuffly beast, justifying Bentley's move into the 4x4 market.

■ SITTING high behind the wheel of this luxurious leviathan is an absolute delight. You feel like a king – and the Queen is among the first customers.

■ IT'S an exceptionally smooth drive with powerful acceleration when you need it.

■ GREAT balance and it takes corners like a train on tracks.

■ IT HAS technical prowess and capability. Off-road, I hurled it at speed across desert sand dunes.

■ THE exterior styling is bold and aggressive – and far better than the ugly prototype.

■ THERE'S huge power from the mighty 6-litre twin-turbo-charged W12 TSI petrol engine developing 600bhp – equivalent to six Ford Fiestas. Seamless acceleration is thanks to the smooth eight-speed ZF automatic gearbox and permanent all-wheel drive.

■ TOP speed is a blistering 187 mph, with acceleration that could shame a supercar as it propelled me from rest to 62 mph in just 4.1 seconds.

■ BENTLEY took advice from five-times Le Mans winner Derek Bell to make the driving feel even more engaging, tightening up the gear ratios, especially the kick-down when overtaking.

■ IT'S simple to rotate the dial settings for on or off-road terrains. On the road, I switched easily between sport and comfort. A 'Bentley' setting combines the Champagne, anyone? Bentley's Bentayga can be fitted with its own drinks hamper, inset, at a cost of £22,000 two, and 'custom' allowed me to create my own preferences.

■ CHOOSING an off-road option is a twist of the dial and a choice between snow and grass for slippery surfaces, dirt and gravel, mud and trail, and sand dunes for 'surf driving' in deep sand.

■ INSIDE, the sumptuous interior feels fantastic. There's a choice of 15 leather seat covers with contrast stitching and quilted diamond design echoing the tailoring of a hunting jacket.

■ FOR added bling, you can add the Linley Hamper by Mulliner, which costs a hefty £22,000 – as much as a decent family car. The three-piece hamper has been designed in collaboration with designer and furniture maker Viscount Linley, the Queen's nephew. The bases of the champagne glasses look like a five-spoke Bentley wheel and bottle stoppers carry the winged 'flying B' Bentley logo.

■ FOR real excess, there's an optional Breitling Tourbillon clock made from solid gold and with a mother of pearl or ebony face with eight diamond indexes that will set you back £110,000.

■ SEVENTEEN standard plus 90 more exterior colours means you will find a shade to suit your taste.

■ FLY the flag. The Bentayga is built in Crewe by a proud 4,000-strong British workforce, though Bentley is owned by Germany's Volkswagen Group.

BAD

■ THE £160,200 list price is just the start. One of the cars I drove was loaded with £60,000 of extras.

■ YOU won't save the planet. Fuel consumption averages just 21.6mpg, dropping to 14.9mpg around town, though rising to 29.4mpg cruising. But Bentley reckons the 85-litre tank will still take you 672 miles.

■ THE Bentayga name – after a mountain in the Canary Isles – is a marketing confection.

■ IF YOU'RE not careful, you might lose your driving licence with this 187mph bouncer.
